Viking Welcomes Utility Air to Expanding Series 400 Twin Otter Global Sales Network Representing Australasia

Victoria, British Columbia, January 23rd, 2015: Viking Air Limited of Victoria, British Columbia, has added Utility Air of Sydney, Australia to the expanding network of sales representatives for the Viking Twin Otter Series 400, covering the Australasia region including Australia, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, and surrounding islands.

Under the direction of Stephen Pembro, founder and Managing Director, Utility Air has become renowned for offering rugged utility aircraft that have become essential to service the large expanses and remote locations prevalent across the Pacific Region. Focusing a fine-tuned core competency towards this unique market segment, Utility Air is ideally suited to represent the Viking Twin Otter Series 400 as the epitome of versatile work-horse aircraft available for operation throughout the South Pacific.

“I am proud that Utility Air has been chosen by Viking to distribute the Twin Otter Series 400 in the Pacific, and intend to work tirelessly to deliver results to the broad target market in the region,” said Stephen Pembro, Managing Director of Utility Air. He added, “The Twin Otter is an iconic aircraft that has served this territory well in its previous iterations, and with the state-of-the-art flight deck and factory options available in the new Viking Series 400, the Twin Otter will continue to be a logical choice for many applications in the region.”
